HPTN 071 (PopART) is a research study that will determine whether offering a combination of several HIV prevention methods to a community will better prevent the spread of HIV than the standard methods that are currently offered.